Srv Singhanian (Saurav)

Tring! Tring! 🕒

Morning alarm rings!

It was the morning charm weather,

With birds whispering and ripple of river.

She did her hair and stretch her arms,

Breath in – breath out, to feel herself in charm.

She gets up from bed and look herself in the mirror,

‘How pretty she looks, with mesmerizing eyes and in untied hairs’ – say’s mirror.

She Cheers! And lost in a day dream thinking,

How far she has reached of her life, that she turns nineteen.

She is laughing at all the old memories that come flooding back,

The memories of her childhood, the day when she broke her hand.

She still remembers the smell of medicines and sound of the wheels of the stretchers against the floor,

Suddenly, her phone rings and she’s out of her dreams once more.

Call from her best friend saying, ‘Hey, Nups! Happy Birthday Honey!’

A smile curving her face and she end up the call saying ‘Thanks a lot Buddy!’

Drops her call and ran towards the washroom to fresh n up,
Preparing herself to dress up.

She looks herself in the mirror, wearing her newly dress brought yesterday,

“Omg! How gorgeous she looks” - mirror describing her again,

She had ebony-black hair and brown eyes,

She had joyous personality and soothing voice.

The best day of her life begins, celebrating the day with almost all of her close friends.

But the worst thing that happen on the day was, she came to know that her boyfriend was dating one of her close friend.

However, for once she ignores, and concentrate on the birthday party,

And spends a lot, till her wallet gets empty.

The last thing that she did on the day,

Reminding herself to kick her boyfriend ass the next day. 😏
